

I Decide Where and With Whom I Live!

Individualizing Services in Wisconsin

Family Care and IRIS offer new opportunities for people to achieve the first on the list of Wisconsin's long-term care member-centered outcomes: "I decide where and with whom I live."

To help people meet that outcome within the funding available through Family Care and IRIS, we need to increase our learning on how existing and new agencies can offer support to people in their own homes as another option to living with their families, within Adult Family Homes, or within Community-Based Residential Facilities.

This event will explain and explore the role agencies and individuals can play in assisting people to find personally fulfilling lives and lifestyles in places in which they have the keys. It will introduce a discussion of individualized services in terms of:

- ★ the type of arrangements that are most empowering for people and the benefits to people that they bring;
- ★ addressing the challenges and difficulties that are encountered in developing and funding individualized services;
- ★ the dimensions of quality involved in personalized lifestyles and supports,
- ★ many other subjects of interest to people who want to see progress in how people's lives can be enriched and supported.

Our Presenters:

Michael Kendrick of Kendrick Consulting International is perhaps the most well travelled and experienced authority on advanced person centered practice in the world. He has assisted with pioneering efforts in empowerment, person centered innovations and the evaluation and strengthening of service quality in many countries, including Australia, New Zealand, Canada, the USA, the United Kingdom, Ireland, Holland, and Belgium. He is well regarded by people with disabilities and their families and by service agencies for his understanding of their needs and concerns and his hopeful and positive guidance in moving forward. www.kendrickconsulting.org

Peter Leidy has been learning from elders and people with disabilities since 1983. For almost 20 years he worked for Options in Community Living, a supported living agency in Dane County. Peter now consults with individuals, families, organizations, and states in areas such as supported living, self-determination, organizational development, positive behavior support, building community relationships, and supporting and valuing direct support staff. Peter also writes and sings humorous and thought-provoking songs about life in (and out of) the human service system. www.peterleidy.com
